

Nice to Meet You

George!

Greetings! And welcome to my 9th photo-based zine issue. Nice to meet you George. Have you ever found a pile of old photos in your grandparents's closet or gone to a flea market and found a box full of some stranger's images from a by gone era? I wonder about these people and their families. Are they still alive? What did they do for a living? Where did they live? How big was the family? What happened to them? How did these images end up in a box? Is this the last stop for these photographs because the blood lineage has come to an end? So many questions, so little time!

Anyway here is a treasure that was given to me. I don't know anything about George, but she sounds like a very interesting human being. Hopefully she had a very fulfilling life.

Enjoy the lite read!
