

Everyone is at different levels and like different genres of photography, so there is no set itinerary and all levels are welcome.

Your photography workshop will go at the right pace for you and concentrate only on what you need to grow your skills and self confidence.

If you're a complete beginner you won't feel left behind (or that you might be holding others back). If you're more experienced, you won't be held back.

You'll gain new skills, expand existing skills, improve your understanding and evolve new ways of thinking about and using photographic techniques.

What would you work on?
