With my background as an outdoor education instructor and photographer, I have developed tuition sessions held in Wiltshire, Dorset, and Hampshire. In addition to improving photographic techniques, students will gain confidence and a deeper appreciation for the natural beauty surrounding them. These sessions provide a peaceful escape into the world of art and nature, promoting both personal growth and emotional well-being.

Photography can serve as an effective tool for managing and processing life experiences, thereby alleviating the stress they may place on your mental well-being. For many students, being outdoors and engaging with their personal interests while capturing their thoughts and feelings through photography can lead to increased happiness. This creative outlet creates a sense of accomplishment.

Experienced in supporting young individuals, providing every student with an opportunity to thrive.
